

Glenn Lucini – Child & Adolescent & Family Clinical Psychologist

Glenn is a registered clinical psychologist with over thirteen years' experience. He specialises in working with children, adolescents, and families. Glenn also provides various specialist psychological assessments.

Since moving to New Zealand over ten years ago, Glenn has been employed as a clinical psychologist with a Child and Adolescent Mental Health Service in Auckland. And for the last eight years, Glenn has been the clinical leader and consultant psychologist in the child teams; and more recently in the area youth offending.

- Child and Adolescent Psychology - This includes consultation and assessment of a range of childhood challenges and disorders like ADHD, ASD, cognitive delays, school performance problems, conduct disorder, and anxiety disorders. Glenn also assists parents to address these challenges; and providing individual therapy for older children and teenagers.
- Case Management Consultation - Particularly with services working with vulnerable children/families. Glenn also provides specialist assessment reports for family services and statutory bodies.
- Family Therapy -This includes a range of family problems such as addressing communication challenges; managing notable stress within the family; strategies for supporting an unsettled family member; enhancing re-constructed/blended families and managing single-parent homes.
- Relationship Difficulties for All Ages – For example, when struggling to make/keep friends, communication difficulties, isolation/loneliness, performance and other social anxieties.
- Difficulties Related to Life-Stages and Transitions - For example, leaving home as a young adult, separation, coping with new family members arriving or leaving, job changes, bereavement and adjusting to new environments.