

Uri Ririki - Child Health Connection Centre

Update October 2019

What is Uri Ririki - Child Health Connection Centre?

Uri Ririki - Child Health Connection Centre (CHCC) is a coordination hub that will be staffed by a mix of administrative and clinical professionals. The centre will focus on improving the access and uptake of child health services, particularly among Māori and Pacific children.

To find out more, click here

Over the last month, we have developed posters that introduce Uri Ririki – CHCC to whānau. These posters have been tested with whānau recently.

By next week, we will be distributing these posters to health providers. We would like to acknowledge all child health providers, both in the community and hospital who have shown support in helping us distribute these posters across their networks.

If you too would like some posters, please email us on chcc@waitematadhb.govt.nz

Thank you

We would like to thank Te Runanga O Ngāti Whātua for the provision of a beautiful name and whakataukī.

We are delighted to introduce both our name:

Uri Ririki – Child Health Connection Centre

And whakataukī:

Uri Ririki – he taura o te ate

The young progeny – the strings to the seat of ones emotions.

Keeping whānau & providers informed

We want to ensure whānau have a good understanding of what Uri Ririki – Child Health Connection Centre is.

To support this, we are currently developing a whānau information pamphlet about Uri Ririki – Child Health Connection Centre. This resource will be available for whānau with a child or children between the ages of 0 and 6 years across Auckland, Waitematā, and Northland.

We will give you more information on this resource in the next update. Similar to the poster, this resource will be tested with whānau.

Contact us on 0800 242 737

To ensure whānau and providers can contact us from day one; we have set up a 0800 number for Uri Ririki – Child Health Connection Centre.

This number will be published on all resources, such as the poster, so that whānau and providers alike can contact us with any questions or queries related to Uri Ririki – Child Health Connection Centre.

You can contact us on 0800 242 737 (0800 CHC Service).

Email 'subscribe' for newsletter:

CHCC@waitematadhb.govt.nz