About Us

The Child Psychology Service was founded in 2018 by Dr. Emma Woodward. This was in response to a growing need for effective and responsive mental health support for children, young people, their families, and schools.

At The Child Psychology Service, we understand the unique challenges and opportunities that come with each child's developmental journey.

We work with children and young people between the ages of 0-25.

Our Services

Individual Therapy: Tailored one-on-one sessions to address specific needs and challenges faced by your child.

Behaviour Support: Specialised strategies to help you to understand and support positive behaviour.

Parenting Support: Tailored sessions to empower you with effective tools to strengthen your parenting skills.

School Support: Partnering with schools to create supportive environments that enhance learning and wellbeing.

Multi-Disciplinary Assessment: Our team of psychologists, psychiatrist, and other professionals work together alongside you to identify neurodivergence or specific learning difficulties such as ADHD, giftedness, dyslexia, or autism and provide effective strategies to support your child's needs.

Why Us?

Expertise: Our team of compassionate and experienced mental health professionals are dedicated to providing practical support and guidance.

Holistic Approach: We focus on the overall wellbeing of you and your child, developing strengths and building resilience.

Multi-Disciplinary Team: We work closely with you, your child, schools and, other professionals to ensure a comprehensive approach to supporting you.
